Comments: Both facilities can conduct FFD evaluations. The employer should call and schedule an appointment giving enough time to provide the evaluating physician with a copy of the Essential Job Functions, signed Medical Release form and a FFD Referral letter. (This can be found on the RESIG Website). The employer should obtain release of medical records from employee and request that the employee process the request for medical records in-person with his/her provider. (This form can be found on the RESIG website). The employer will receive a report on work tolerance test and narrative report by physician supporting FFD findings.
